The firm has a dedicated commercial contracts group which provides a comprehensive service covering the full range of commercial agreements, trading arrangements, joint ventures and partnerships.

With the procurement regime changing in 2006, and the increasing potential for challenge to contracts awarded by public authorities, procurement is a rapidly growing area of practice for Hill Dickinson. The firm's procurement and competition team has extensive experience in advising public authorities and the private sector in all aspects of competition law.

Our flourishing projects team advises on a wide variety of PPP/PFI schemes, NHS LIFT schemes and 'green energy' (combined heat and power) projects, working closely with our dedicated NHS property team.
